About PwC's Academy

Leading change through the development of human capital

We work with students and educational institutes across the region to develop the next generation of professionals.

We help them grow and develop their talent by providing training programmes that build mindset knowledge and skills.

Who we are

We are the learning and education business of PwC operating across the Middle East and are part of a growing network of PwC Academies present in over 35 countries worldwide. We have been developing our own people for over 100 years and it is this deep experience of helping professionals become business leaders that is embedded into all PwC's Academy programmes. We are different because we use both subject matter experts within the PwC network and dedicated Academy staff, each of whom bring their wealth of knowledge and practical experience.

What we do

We offer a variety of training courses, based on the best practices of PwC's global network of firms and the individual experiences of our experts. We constantly adapt our courses to meet the needs of modern business, customising them to our students requirements and assisting our students in reaching their organisational training and strategic objectives. We deliver learning that blends classroom training with innovative tools including the latest educational technologies, so that learning is relevant, sustainable and fun.

How we do it

We believe in the development of talent through building on what people know, how they think and what they can do – not as separate components but as an integrated process to create impact and deliver change. We design our programmes to deliver the knowledge, mindset and skills needed to solve today's important problems and predict, prevent and manage tomorrow's.

“

The CFA classes have given me an in-depth understanding of the focus areas relevant to the CFA exam. The friendly and approachable instructors made learning more conducive and interactive.

Having a classroom-based learning experience did not only enhance interaction but also made the classes more interesting.

About the CFA

The CFA Charter is an investment credential that, for more than 60 years, has been the global standard for embodying the integrity, dedication and advanced skills needed to build a stronger, more accountable financial industry. The CFA is one of the world's most highly respected and challenging credential in the finance and investment industry.

CFA charterholders are unique in that they have:

- Globally relevant knowledge
- Real-world expertise
- Ethical grounding
- The ability to earn industry respect
- A global community
- Membership of the CFA institute

The CFA designation is a mark of distinction that is globally recognised by employers as well as a host of other organisations including over 125 distinguished universities and colleges and regulatory bodies across the world.

Earning the CFA charter demonstrates a mastery of the analytic and decision making skills needed in today's fast paced and competitive work environment.

There are more than 154,000 CFA charterholders worldwide in 165+ countries and regions. CFA Institute has eight offices worldwide and there are 151 local member societies.

Getting qualified

To become a CFA charterholder, you must meet the eligibility requirements which include passing three exams, Levels I, II and III, and accumulating 48 months of approved work experience.

The CFA exams vary in their format and structure.

- All exams are conducted online and each exam is six hours long
- Level I can be taken in February, May, August and November
- Level II can be taken in May and August
- Level III can be taken in May and November
- The CFA Institute Board of Governors sets the minimum passing score for each level every year.

For more information about the CFA credential, please visit www.cfainstitute.org

Minimum entry requirements

To become a CFA charterholder, you must meet at least one of the following criteria:

- Hold a Bachelor's (or equivalent) degree
- Be in the final year of your Bachelor's degree programme
- Have four years of qualified, professional work experience
- Have a combination of work and college experience that totals at least four years (Note: summer, part-time, and internship positions do not qualify as work experience)

How long does it take?

How you study for your CFA exam is very flexible and you can progress at your own pace. Successful candidates may complete the programme in two to four years. We recommend for each of the three exams, that you plan on at least six months of preparation to help you get the best results.
